CAMP McDOUGALL

Privacy Policy

What this website collects, what it doesn't, and who handles registration and donations. Last updated November 2026.

The short version

This website is here to tell you about Camp. It does not have accounts, it does not take payments, and it never asks for information about your child. Registration, donations and ticket sales all happen on separate, secure sites run by other organizations. This website has no forms and does not ask you for any personal information.

What this website collects

The website itself collects nothing from you. It has no contact forms, no sign-up boxes, no sign-in and no comment sections.

- Emails you send us. Links such as "Email us" and "Apply" open your own email app. Whatever you choose to write, for example a volunteer offer or a job application, arrives in the Camp's inbox and is used to reply to you and to follow up on what you asked about.

Registration is handled by CampBrain

When you register a camper, you leave this website and continue on CampBrain, the registration service many Canadian camps use. Your family account, camper details, health information, emergency contacts, forms and payments are entered and stored there, not here. This website never sees them. Camp staff use that information only to run camp safely and to contact you about your registration. CampBrain's own privacy policy applies to its site.

Donations and tickets are handled by CanadaHelps and Zeffy

Donation buttons take you to CanadaHelps, and event tickets and sponsorships are sold through Zeffy. Your name, contact details and payment card are entered on their sites and processed by them. This website never sees or stores your card number. Those organizations share with Camp what we need to thank you and issue a tax receipt. Their privacy policies apply to their sites.

Cookies and tracking

This website does not set cookies of its own, does not use analytics and does not show advertising. If we ever add visitor statistics, we will ask for your consent first and update this page.

Other services this website relies on

- Hosting. The site is hosted with Google Firebase. Like any web host, it keeps routine technical logs, such as the internet address a page was requested from.
- The map. The home page shows a Google map of where Camp is. When the map loads, Google may set its own cookies and collect usage information under Google's privacy policy.
- Photos and page content. Images and text are delivered by Storyblok, the service we use to edit the site.
- Links to other sites. Once you follow a link away from this website, that site's own privacy policy applies.

How we use and share information

We use information only for the reason you gave it to us: to answer your email, to run camp, or to receipt your gift. We do not sell, rent or trade personal information, and we do not share it with anyone outside Camp except the service providers named on this page, or where the law requires it.

Photos

Photos of campers are only used with a signed media release from their parent or guardian. If you would like a photo removed, contact us and we will take it down.

Children

This website does not ask children for personal information. Information about campers is provided by a parent or guardian during registration on CampBrain.

Your choices

You can ask us at any time to tell you what information Camp holds about you, or to correct or delete it. For information held in your CampBrain account, you can also sign in there to view and update it.

Contact us

Questions or requests about privacy can be sent to campmcdougall@gmail.com, or by mail to Camp McDougall, 12679 ON-17, Thessalon, ON P0R 1L0. If this policy changes, the new version will be posted on this page with a new date.